As education becomes a high priority on many people's lists and a determination factor for higher paying jobs, the one setback that can prevent anyone from obtaining a higher education is the cost of attending college. However, tuition-free colleges are appearing more recently and becoming a new trend in the education industry. With free colleges and topnotch education, it's the perfect combination and opportunity for many who are seeking a better life through higher education. From these top eight free tuition colleges, prospective students can obtain a debt-free education.

Webb Institute Webb Institute is a highly accredited school that specializes in marine engineering and naval constructions. With around 80 undergraduates each year, Webb Institute has a job placement of 100 percent for their graduated students. Webb Institute is the only marine engineering and naval architecture school that offers a full, four-year scholarship for their students, which is possible due to generous donations from numerous sources. As the trend of free tuition becomes popular among noted colleges every year, education is now an obtainable opportunity and a dream come true for many academically driven people.

United States Service Academies United States service academies (Military Academy, Naval Academy, Coast Guard Academy, Merchant Marine Academy, and US Air Force Academy) all offer top notch educations with selective admissions. The catch of course is that you have a guaranteed job awaiting you following graduation – service time in a branch of the United State military. All five academies have brutal selection processes, with only 8-15% of applicants being selected. Minimum terms of duty are usually five years active and three years reserve.

Barclay College As a Christian centered environment, Barclay College prepares students for a life of serving and leading the Christian life style. Offering degree programs from Youth Ministry to Christian Elementary Education, Barclay College dedicates their learning institution to Christian values and beliefs. With a full scholarship rewarded to every admitted student, Barclay College presents a free, high quality education in any Christian related fields. However, to receive the free tuition, students must live on the Barclay College campus.
